FROM THE DESK OF THE RECTOR

The Gift of Understanding

One of the earliest stories in the Bible tells about the Tower of Babel. It is one of those stories that explains why things are the way they are, from a theological perspective. In this case the gathered people try to build a tower, to be like God, so that they might make a name for themselves. It is the old story of securing their own survival (and greatness), thinking that they might become like God. In the story, God solves this problem by confusing their language and scattering them across the earth.

This becomes the primordial story of why people don't understand each other in this world (they speak different languages). And there should be no doubt that it is in many ways a curse. When we don't understand each other, we hurt one another, we argue, we misinterpret motives and in a cultural sense, we fail to see the humanity in each person.

The story of Pentecost, the great descent of the Holy Spirit, reverses this great curse. It becomes the primordial story of a new way of being. In this story, even though people are speaking different languages, they hear the good news in a way they can understand. The Apostle Paul takes this to its radical in conclusion:

As many of you as were baptized into Christ have clothed yourselves with Christ. There is no longer Jew or Greek, there is no longer slave or free, there is no longer male and female; for all of you are one in Christ Jesus.

In this great reversal we are called to recognize God's presence, to recognize the essential humanity, of those in different tribes and speak different languages. It is a call to seek to understand rather than to scatter. The church is called to be a sign of this understanding for the world. But how will we know the good news of the great reversal if we don't live it?

At St. Paul's we have the opportunity to celebrate the many languages coming together this Pentecost. Our English language and our Tongan speaking congregations will worship together. We'll hear the good news in word and music in different tongues. And we will celebrate being one!

So let us come together this Pentecost! We'll do the fun thing of having balloons waving in the wind and you're invited to wear something red to celebrate the power of the Spirit. Most of all, let us be a part of the great reversal. Let us practice being a people who seek understanding first so that the peace of Christ may spread among us.

In the Spirit, Thomas

Pray-grounds on Summer Break!

Dear Families,

Our Pray-grounds for younger and older children of guided participation, lessons and learning will be on summer break beginning May 28th. But we are always called to worship God! So “Family Comfort Zone” will be open in the side chapel, across from the pulpit.

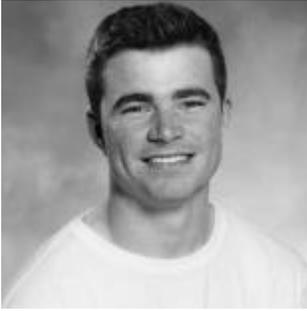

Some wonderful volunteers will be creating this space by rolling out our rug and laying some activity clipboards and markers.

Pray-grounds for older and younger children will re-open on Sept. 10th with the Blessing of the backpacks!

New “Family Comfort Zone” while Pray-grounds are on summer break.

Congratulations to 2017 High School Graduates!

Hayden Pegley is graduating from Menlo School in Atherton. He was baptized here at St. Paul's and has been part of our parish for his whole life. His favorite St. Paul's memory is singing Evensong at Grace Cathedral – which is, coincidentally, where his parents were married! He was amazed by the acoustics, especially as this happened before the renovations at St. Paul's. After graduation, Hayden is looking forward to playing football at Vanderbilt University in Nashville and continuing his singing career, as well.

Diana Daniels is graduating from Burlingame High School. She was baptized at St. Paul's as a child and has been a part of our community since she was very little. A lot of her favorite memories are from being in Choir School as an elementary-aged child. She learned so much and had fun creating music with others. Christmas Eve services are also a highlight every year. After a fun, relaxing summer, Diana will be attending Amherst College in Massachusetts.

Kate Davidson is graduating from Crystal Springs Uplands School. Since her mother and grandfather went to St. Paul's as children, Kate has been part of St. Paul's since before she was born. One of Kate's favorite St. Paul's memories is being at Bishop's Ranch with her parents and grandparents. She remembers the art projects, playing on the swing, and exploring the secret garden behind the chapel. After a summer of family travel and sailing, Kate will be attending Bowdoin College in Maine.

The Rev. Julie Graham is on Sabbatical

Dear Families,

Beginning May 22nd, I will be stepping away from our community in order to rest, renew and given the space sabbath time provides, God willing, go into deeper soul work. In other words, after 10 years I will be on sabbatical. I will return August 10th.

Thank you for keeping me in your prayers.

The Rev. Julie Graham

Associate for Children and Family Ministries

May We Enter These Months With Open Hearts

What are some of your favorite summer memories? I remember swimming at the cabin all day and climbing into bed at night, still feeling like my body was floating in the lake as I drifted off to sleep. I remember camping with my children when they were preschoolers, when a few sticks and some boulders at the campsite were enough to buy me hours of reading and knitting time. More recently, I think of traveling with a chorus to Newfoundland to sing in a choral festival and taking my almost adult kids to Europe last summer.

The common thread in these memories is my sense of openness. Some of these experiences involved a lot of planning, for sure. But once I reached the moment, I opened my hands and heart and took in whatever came towards me. As a child at the cabin, I got lots of mosquito bites and sometimes we had to pull leeches off our legs and arms. But there were also clean sheets, bedtime stories, and extra long snuggles with mom at night. My kids didn't always sleep well in tents, but watching them wake up to the beauty of redwood forests and deserts more than made up for the shortened nights.

As we move into the summer of 2017, may we enter these months with open hearts, knowing God's presence in work and play. May we savor those glimpses of the Holy and be refreshed. And may we join with God's Spirit and our neighbors to heal the broken places in our world.

With love,
Charlotte

Conversations about Genesis with Bill Moyers

9am each Sunday in the Higbie Library
(Nursery care is available)

This summer in worship will be hearing the foundational stories of Jewish and Christian faith. These stories focused on Abraham and his family are colorful and vexing at the same time. In our 9am hour we'll engage these stories as Bill Moyers invites Jews, Christians and Muslims into conversation around the stories all of these faiths share. We'll watch a portion of these interviews and then have a chance to share our own insights into these stories and what they mean for our own lives.

Be a part of St. Paul's, Show Us Your Talent, Share Your Time, Be the Light.

Our vestry theme this year is Fostering a sense of belonging for everyone. St. Paul's is ours. And we are St. Paul's, as your Junior Warden, I want to ensure that all of us have a chance to belong at St. Paul's. What gifts do you have that you can share with our St. Paul's community?

Before you answer (particularly if you think the answer is "uh, none?"), let me remind you of how broad our opportunities are: Like to bake? We have a Boulangers group that takes turns making the Communion bread. Quick with a "good morning"? We need Greeters to welcome all to worship. Like to knit? Yes, we have a knitting group that offers wonderful fellowship.

Below are some of our groups and teams. Please peruse the list and ask yourself "where might I help foster a sense of belonging for everyone?" You'll be hearing more about this and the groups below in the weeks ahead. Think "I'll try that" and bless us all with your contribution. Thank you.

Change Is Inevitable ...

Change is inevitable. As spring surely morphs into summer or yesterday's youngster walks across a stage to receive a diploma today, change happens whether we're willing participants or not. Perhaps it's this inevitable march of change that drives us to cling to our traditions; our own attempt to keep things the same. I love tradition, as much as anyone and yet it's critical to our health that we courageously reflect on whether these traditions continue to serve our needs or whether we've become captive of our traditions unable or unwilling to change. How do we face change? My garden has helped me face change. As plants die and decompose they provide crucial nutrients to new life in the coming seasons. My garden, as a wise teacher, reminds me over and over again that life and death are intertwined; both necessary to the wholeness and health of all. I often go out on a limb (Pun intended!) and courageously transplant or trim back a rose hoping that this effort will yield better results.

Our Vestry has been reviewing how we, as a community face change; our Web site, our ministries, our campus, and the very members of our Vestry. A necessary element in this work is courage. And courage reminds me of Theodore Roosevelt who wrote: "It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs, who comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcoming; but who does actually strive to do the deeds; who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in a worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat." President Roosevelt's quote speaks of the courage necessary to step out into the arena without the assurance of success ... a supremely vulnerable act. Whether it's in the garden or leading our faith community, courage and the willingness to be vulnerable are intertwined, essential ingredients in how we face change.

My garden, as a wise teacher, reminds me over and over again that life and death are intertwined; both necessary to the wholeness and health of all.

Keeping you company under the shadow of God's wings...

Movie Night “Even the Rain” July 12th

Join us Wednesday, July 12th at 7pm in the Higbei Library/Hall for “Even the Rain” Directed by Icíar Bollain of Spain, 2010. The film won 21 awards and 16 nominations worldwide. There will be an adult discussion after the screening.

This is a great movie; a movie inside another movie. It tells an old story when the Spaniards under the command of Christopher Columbus “discovered” and ransacked the “New World”. But then the film crew members, who are playing out this historical epic in an idyllic town of present day Bolivia, encounter the modern day Bolivian government and its conflict with its people. The crew is caught in a moral dilemma and the real intensive drama begins ...

Continued Conversations on Teen and Young Adult Mental Health

The evening of May 9th, we held our first conversation about how we might support teen and young adult mental health. As we shared our reasons for coming, we realized that mental health concerns touch all of our lives in some way. The secrecy and shame that often accompany these concerns make them harder for everyone to bear. As people of resurrection hope, we believe God's love encompasses and brings wholeness to all our being. God invites us as the church to provide safety for honest acknowledgment of our vulnerabilities. We're looking to "turn the lights on" because nothing, no one, lies outside God's loving embrace. Mental health concerns belong in our prayers and conversation and will be included there.

The good news is that opportunities abound! Our first event will happen near the end of August, when we will host a short panel discussion on suicide prevention after church one Sunday. Charlotte has been collecting updated resources and connections in San Mateo and Burlingame and is happy to share them. She has books and information on classes and workshops for parents and young people. These address wide-ranging topics like sexuality and gender identities, mental illness, addiction and recovery, suicide and self-harm, stress, and difficult relationships.

And if you were unable to make this month's meeting but want to be involved in any way, please contact Charlotte (cwilson@stpaulsburlingame.org) or Suzanne Aubry (suzanne.aubry@gmail.com). Finally, please pray for us in this work and for the teens and young adults in your lives.
